HUSBAND SEEKING A RECONCILIATION
BEATS HIS WIFE

Mrs. Denzel Objected to His Spending $5 a Week. He Choked Her.

Because she objected when her husband wanted $5 a week pocket money, Louise Kost Denzel of 1236 East Main street testified in the superior court this afternoon that she was beaten by Edward Denzel from whom she was seeking a divorce. The wife said when Denzel brought home the second week's pay another argument on the same subject followed and again Denzel struck her. After that Denzel left his wife.

Mrs. Denzel is a daughter of Christian Kost, 414 East Main street cafe proprietor. She married Denzel in June, 1912, and it was only four days after the ceremony that the dispute about money followed. "I told him I thought a married man couldn't have $5 for himself," declared Mrs. Denzel. In addition to striking her Mrs. Denzel also claimed her husband choked her.

They lived together only a few weeks but several years later Denzel was in this city and his wife made an effort to induce him to return. She said she suggested that he pay her something for the time he was away and he struck her. That ended the talk of reconciliation.

Judge Case granted the decree on the ground of intolerable cruelty.

The arrest of Louis Benson, said to reside at 95 Elm street, this city, and driver of a jitney bus owned by the Bridgeport Jitney Bus Co., will probably be made some time this afternoon or evening as a result of the accident at midnight at Avon Park last night when Benson smashed into a trolley car proceeding to Stratford center.

The jitney driver, alleged to be intoxicated, attempted to cross in front of the car with the result that the machine was sidwiped and the occupants were catapulted into the roadway. ## Harvest Time in Shanghai.

Now, come and see a harvest in Shanghai. Here, too, it is the time of supreme interest to the whole family. Life in the country is practically measured by so many wheat harvests, and every old man and woman hopes to live to see one more. For weeks before all plays are made with reference to it. Carpentry, masonry, work of every kind must either be finished before "pulling wheat time" or laid aside at that time to wait until the harvest is over. No matter how important in the eyes of a foreign resident the work in hand may become, he cannot beg or buy his workmen to continue when once the wheat is ripe. In the hospitals all the patients want to get well by wheat pulling time. Some must stay on, but many a one incapacitated in hand or foot for real work goes home to take his or her place in "watching the gate," that all the rest of the family may go to the field and thrashing floor.—Christian Herald.

The Irish of the Balkans.
The Servians are the Irish of southeastern Europe, with all the virtues and some of the weaknesses of the Irish people. They are especially proud of their national poetry, which they possess as no other nation possesses in modern times, for they still have their national bards—men who live by making national song, not highly cultured poets, but men in the street. They do not go to a newspaper to report what they hear, but to the next inn or coffee house, and there take up their instruments to recite what they have to say. Virtually our bards are ancient reporters. The old ones sing. Those of the present day stenograph. The Servian language is the richest and most musical of the Slav dialects. The Russian language has that reputation, but it is not so musical and clear and rich.—Miyatovitch, Servian minister to England, in the Manchester Guardian.

Clouded Windows.
Many people have a window of a part of one which they would like to have to the two curious gaze of passers-by or, possibly, of neighbors.
This can be managed by prettily crystallizing the window glass as follows: Fill a jam pot one-third full of gum arabic and add a little hot water. Let this soak for some hours and when the gum has quite dissolved add the same quantity of epsom salts. Then stand the jam pot in a basin of hot water and stir well until the salt has quite dissolved. Apply the mixture to the glass quickly with a camel's hair brush.
The effect is like crystallized ground glass, and, while light is admitted, no one can see through it. The effect of plain ground glass is obtained by using a linen rag instead of a brush and putting the preparation on thinly.—Exchange.

His Music Room.
"And you call this your music room?"
"Yes."
"But there are no musical instruments in it?"
"No. It's so constructed that I can't hear any of the surrounding music that may be turned on from time to time."
—Viola World.

A Lesson in English.
Teacher—Now, Clarence, can you tell me what "can't" is the abbreviation of?
Clarence—It's the abbreviation of "cannot." Teacher—That's right. Now, Edgar, what is "don't" the abbreviation of?
Edgar—"Doughnut."—Chicago News.

Try to Deserve It.
Contentment in old age is deserved by him alone who has not lost faith in what is good, his persevering strength of will and his desire for active employment.—Turgeneff.

Splendid Scheme.
Mother of her son—He has a beautiful voice, and we have had him taught the flute so that he can accompany himself.—Exchange.

POLICE SEEK WITNESS IN DROWNING CASE

While the police are seeking to locate a man who is said to have seen Leckawicz/Bollislaw ejected from a dance hall and then assaulted, Saturday night, Oronter Phelan has halted his inquiry into Bollislaw's death. The unfortunate man was found drowned with his feet stuck in the mud of Henry street basin last Sunday morning. Bollislaw with a boyhood schoolmate, Joseph Cabage, attended a wedding Saturday night. Later they went to a place at Main and Whiting streets where a dance was in progress. Because the hour was late they tried to enter without buying tickets. Both had been drinking. It is claimed they were ejected by the men present and then set upon and beaten. Drunk and terrified it is thought that Bollislaw in running from his assailants, plunged into the mud of the basin. He was unable to extricate himself because of his befuddled condition and was drowned.

DR. J. L. SULLIVAN
IS SERIOUSLY ILL

According to the report this afternoon at the hospital, Dr. Sullivan is in a serious condition, and fears are held for his recovery.
Dr. Sullivan ran for membership on the board of education in the last election. He is well acquainted in the East Side.
